CRG IS READY TO SHINE IN THE FINAL STAGES OF THE WSK SUPER MASTER SERIES

Heats of the second round of the WSK Super Masters Series in Castelletto have been spoiled by heavy rain in the morning. CRG drivers are all set to put in a comeback in the final stages that will get underway on Sunday March 5th.

The qualifying day has been characterized by mixed weather conditions in Castelletto di Branduzzo (Pavia, Italy) ahead of the final stages of the WSK Super Master Series. This Saturday has had rain and cold temperatures in the morning, before switching to a good sun and milder temperatures in the afternoon, which boosted the performance of the more than 250 drivers on track for the second round of the series.

These mixed conditions, and especially the heavy rain in the morning, caused some headaches to several drivers that were involved in incidents and contacts, which complicated their position in the classification ahead of the final stages to be held on Sunday.

A great performance in KZ was put in by Flavio Camponeschi, on CRG-Tm. He claimed a good P8 at the end of a comeback run started from the 30th place in qualifying. Andrea Dalè is currently 11th, Stan Pex 13th but also improved his classification a lot over the weekend. An unlucky heat relegated Jorrit Pex to the 20th place in the classification. Simo Puhakka showed a great shape in qualifying, but slipped down to P24, as did Paolo De Conto who stands currently in 26th, as both drivers were handed a 10s time penalty (mis-positioned front fairing) that voided their comeback runs. Taymour Kermanshahchi is 31st, Alessandro Giardelli 43rd and Marco Valenti 53rd.

All these drivers will definitely have the chance to improve their position on Sunday morning in the two Prefinals that will define the starting grid for the 34 finalists partaking in the afternoon race.

Davide Lombardo was the quickest of CRG drivers in OK as he took the tenth place after heats. Dennis Hauger could not get all the ground he would have wanted back, and stands in 11th place of the classification, after being 21st at the end of qualifying. Good performances were also put in by Kilian Meyer, and Team Morsicani's Alessandro Di Cori who is 20th, while Michael Rosina is 24th after securing a good fourth place in the first heat. Last year's winner of the CIK-FIA Academy Trophy of CRG, Callum Bradshaw, had a slower start but showed his fighting character and ended his day in 28th place.

OK-Junior and 60 Mini will run some further heats on Sunday morning ahead of the Prefinals and Finals. The French Gillian Henrion was the quickest of CRG lot in OK and secured the provisional third place. The Dutch driver of CRG Keijzer Racing Kas Haverkort, on CRG-Parilla, was the absolute quickest in qualifying, but later on was unfortunately involved in an incident in the first heat.

Luca Giardelli of team Gamoto has been very quick in 60 Mini on CRG-Tm. He is one of the pace setters and claimed a victory. His team mate Alfio Spina also showed a great shape, clinching a victory too, but he follows in the classification due to a technical problem in another heat. The closing heats will be crucial on Sunday morning.
